FOUR CARS MADE PERFECT SCORE IN RELIABILITY RUN

Chamber of Commerce Party Reached Greensboro at 6 O'clock Yesterday. Having Traveled 150 Miles—Judges will Decide on Cup Winner Today.

With four of the cars making a perfect score the Chamber of Commerce Reliability run reached Greensboro yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock, having covered a distance of more than 150 miles since 7:30 yesterday morning. With the exception of an accidental collision in Durham that put two cars out of commission there was not a single accident during the trip, nor was there a breakdown other than punctured tires.

The tourists were completely worn out, but everyone was in high spirits over the success of the venture and the enthusiasm shown at every stopping place along the entire route. The reception they met was far beyond the expectations of the most sanguine and every member of the party felt more than repaid for making the trip.

Cup Award Not Made.

The judges were in conference last night until a late hour figuring on the winners, but at last an adjournment was taken until this morning at 10 o'clock when the matter will be passed upon. The judges are C. D. Benbow, Julian Price, Andrew Joyner, W. I. Underwood and C. G. Wright. The referee is Garland Daniel. The cars making a perfect score are the Cadillac, driven by G. C. Thomas; Case, driven by Charles Sides; Overland, driven by N. Y. McAden, of Louisville; Overland, driven by Mr. Burkheimer, Greensboro. Garland Ricks in the Abbott-Detroit was making a perfect score until his collision with the car driven by Z. V. Conyers in Durham yesterday.

The judges will have to do some close figuring to decide on the cup winners.

Best Road on Trip.

The party left Henderson yesterday morning and detoured by way of Louisville, going from there to Raleigh by way of Franklinville. The best stretch of road over which they passed during the 250 mile trip was the sand-clay road between Louisville and Franklinville. They were able to go over this at a lively clip. They reached Raleigh about noon and some stopped over for dinner, while others came direct to Durham for dinner. They left there about three o'clock, coming by way of Graham, Haw River and Burlington.

Big Meeting in Henderson.

Wednesday night there was a large and enthusiastic meeting in Henderson, a large number of speeches being made in the interest of the Greensboro-Roxboro railroad. Jno. D. Cooper, a prominent manufacturer, presided and made an address. Other Henderson speakers were Secretary Kithrell, of the Henderson Commercial Club, Mayor Powell and Col. Hicks. Mayor Brummett, Col. Ballou and Judge Graham, of Oxford, also accompanied the tourists from Oxford, also made speeches. Members of the Greensboro party who spoke were A. L. Brooks, G. S. Bradshaw, A. B. Kimball, C. D. Benbow, C. G. Wright and V. C. McAdoo.

The Durham Accident.

The accident at Durham was declared by the witnesses to have been unavoidable. Mr. Conyers' car was standing by the curb and Mr. Ricks was driving down the street at a moderate pace. A vehicle suddenly turned in front of his car and in an effort to avoid a collision with the vehicle he went headlong into Mr. Conyers' car. Both machines were so badly damaged that they had to be placed in the repair shop, the occupants coming to Greensboro by rail. Mr. Ricks was arrested for speeding, but the mayor dismissed the warrant after hearing the particulars. A report reached Greensboro that the entire party had been arrested for speeding and caused considerable comment.

PLANNING MASONIC

EXCURSION TO WILKESBORO.

Grand Master R. N. Hackett, of the Grand Lodge of Masons, was in the city last night arousing interest in an excursion to be run from Greensboro to Wilkesboro on June 28, the date of the annual Masonic picnic at that place. The idea is to have a large attendance of Masonic lodges from nearby counties and grant a special dispensation whereby the subordinate lodges present will have a public installation of officers during the day. The Greensboro Masons are enthusiastic over the prospects for an enjoyable day on that occasion.

COTTON

Manufacturers of United State in Annual Convention in Richmond.

Special to Telegram.

Richmond, Va., May 18.—The sixteenth annual convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association began here today, with more than 800 delegates in attendance. Prominent manufacturers in the cotton world are here from all parts of the United States. The morning session was devoted to routine work and at the afternoon session Arthur Marsh, president, spoke on "The New York Cotton Exchange." Lewis W. Parker, of Greenville, S. C., reported for the joint committee on the cotton exchange.

A serious problem now confronts the association, he said, the conditions in the milling industry having been unsettled since 1907, the prices of raw cotton are steadily advancing. The smaller production of the fleecy product and diversified farming have enabled the growers to secure better prices and the burden has been placed on the manufacturer to lower the price of the raw material or to educate the consuming public to pay a higher price for finished goods.

ADOPTED DAUGHTER OF MEXICAN GOVERNOR DETAINED.

Douglas, Ariz., May 18.—Immigration officials yesterday permitted the adopted daughter of General Luis Torres, military governor of Sonora to enter the United States, and the family continued their journey to Los Angeles last night. The wife of General Torres, her parents and her 15 year old daughter, who were seeking refuge in the United States, were detained at Nogales yesterday by immigration officers, who demanded to be shown proof of the legal adoption of the girl before she could enter this country. Later the matter was adjusted.

NEWBERN TAKES FIRST MONEY IN HOSE WAGON CONTEST

Charlotte, May 18.—For two solid hours, from 10 till 12 o'clock, today the firemen attending the annual tournament in progress here vied with each other in the most spirited and exciting event of the occasion, the horse hose wagon contest for North Carolina, there being over a dozen cities and towns of the State represented and each one giving good account of itself.

To New Bern again today fell the honor of securing the first prize in this contest, the team of New Bern No. 1 making the 200 yards run down South Church street over the official course, laying the required 300 feet of hose, making the hydrant and nozzle connections and getting a stream of water in the official time of 29 2-5 seconds. The New Bern winners ran in the eighth race of the day, and were the second to cover the distance and finish the race in less than 30 seconds, Raleigh having made the best record up to the time.

The second prize in cash goes to the Capitol City Hose Company, of Raleigh, which made the close time of 29 3-5, being only 1-5 seconds behind the record made by New Bern. Third prize was won by three different contestants, each of which made a 32-second run, the companies being those of Salisbury, Statesville and Sanford. Fourth came the Atlantic team, of New Bern, with a time of 32 1-5, or just one-fifth seconds behind the companies making third place. The fifth prize went to High Point, whose wagon made the run in 32 2-5, also one-fifth seconds behind the wagon making fourth place in the day's events.

First Pictures of the Scene of the Fighting Which Ended In the Fall of the City of Juarez

The story of the capture of Juarez by the revolutionists, how the federal troops fought valiantly for an entire night and a part of the following day to hold the city, but were finally defeated, has been fully told in the News-Dispatch. Above are shown the first pictures of the fighting which led up to the fall of the city. Sharpshooters are seen firing upon the operators of the deadly machine guns and also a band of insurrectos in a captured federal trench.

TAX

Assessors are Making Good Headway Says State Tax Commission.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 18.—Advices from all parts of the state to the Corporation Commission are that very good progress is being made by the local tax assessors and listers. There are being sent out to all the county seats now from the offices of the commission here flaming bill posters with dates and places left blank for advertising under the new state machinery act the dates and places where the property owners can have their last opportunity to list taxes and save the penalties prescribed for such failure. The law requires that these notices must be posted ten days before the listing actually closes and may be any time from June 10 to 20. Thereafter the tax assessments and lists will be made up for the review by the county boards of equalization.

RESULTS OF STATE TEST FARMS SET OUT IN BULLETIN

Raleigh, May 17.—A very valuable bulletin is just issued by the state department of agriculture setting out the more general work and results on the Buncombe and Transylvania county state test farms, covering the clearing and improvement of the lands, rotation of crops and yields, buildings and equipment of the farms. It is by Dr. B. W. Kilgore, director, and R. W. Collett, superintendent of the farms. These farms were established in 1908. Cattle and sheep, corn, oats, rye, wheat, also hogs are the principal products with which experimentation is carried on along with demonstration work for the surrounding country.

IMPORTANT CASE BEING ARGUED IN SUPREME COURT

Raleigh, May 18.—A case that is of vital interest in every part of North Carolina under the present tendency toward issuance of bonds for road improvement was thrashed out before the Supreme Court on appeal today and the ruling of the court will be awaited with keenest interest. It is Road Trustees of Youngsville Township, Franklin County, vs. C. A. Webb & Co., Asheville, who have contracted for $10,000 of the Youngsville bonds and refused to fulfill the contract on the plea that the bonds are invalid through not having been issued on the strength of a vote by the people of the township, but under legislative authorization only. In the trial below Judge Webb sustained the contentions of Webb & Co. that the bonds are invalid. It is estimated that there are more than a half million dollars of bonds of this class issued in various sections of the state under practically the same conditions. The movement for the bonds in Youngsville township was started early in 1910, a bill for the control of the roads was drawn and adopted in mass meeting of the voters, a majority of the qualified voters favoring it and the 1911 legislature enacted the road bill into law, authorizing the bond issue that the voters had approved. Webb & Co. purchased $10,000 of the bonds and then refused to receive them as invalid. Attorney General T. W. Bickett and his law partner, R. B. White are counsel for the Youngsville township, which under the act is declared a municipality as to the right to issue bonds. Counsel claim the bonds are valid under the constitution as issued by a municipal corporation for necessary expense, insisting that courts have established this doctrine in North Carolina through numerous cited precedents.

Rev. Carson Elected Moderator.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 18.—Rev. John F. Carson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, was today elected moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, convened here in the 123d annual session.

MADERO

Expects to be Elected President of Mexican Republic at Coming Election.

Special to Telegram.

Juarez, Mexico, May 18.—Madero is entirely satisfied with the peace compact and will accept the offer to go to Mexico City as advisor to Minister De La Barra, who will assume the duties of provisional president on June 1.

"There could not have been selected from the government's side a man more satisfactory than Senor De La Barra," he said, "We shall continue to be warm friends of the United States and will encourage all American investments, but we will oppose all trusts and unjust concessions. The prompt effect of peace will be the liberation of all political prisoners and prisoners of war."

Madero has no doubt but that he will be elected as president of the Mexican republic at the coming election, with Dr. Vasquez Gomez as vice president.

WILL SAND-CLAY NORTH ELM STREET BEYOND CITY LIMITS

Capt. J. W. Tyson yesterday moved his convict force north of the city for the purpose of sandclaying the North Elm street extension from the city limits to a point beyond the site of the Greensboro Country Club. The work will be completed as early as possible. Capt. Tyson will today macadamize the road leading to the new bridge across North Buffalo below White Oak. The new bridge is located a few feet above the old one in order to prevent a sharp curve in the road and this necessitates macadamizing a short stretch on each side of the stream.

CONGRESSMAN STEDMAN ON ADMISSION OF ARIZONA

Representative of Imperial Fifth District Made Maiden Speech in House Yesterday ---Speaker Frequently Interrupted by Applause.

TAFT

Will be Candidate for Renomination in 1912 ---His Platform Plank.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 18.—It is announced by the highest authority that President Taft will be a candidate for renomination at the hands of the National Republican Convention in 1912. If the party outlook is good he feels that he will be entitled to the nomination because of the administration's record. If the outlook is bad he is convinced that it will be his duty to defend the administration.

The President's friends say that his opposition is limited to nine states, being led by LaFollette and Bourne's progressive league. The president and Mr. Roosevelt are as intimate as formerly and the leaders of both factions of the Republican party in New York are in line for Taft.

The main plank in the President's platform will be the promise of the continuance of the good work by the department of justice.

Noted Musician Dead.

Special to Telegram.

Vienna, May 18.—Gustav Mahler, eminent conductor-composer, at one time director of the orchestra of the Metropolitan Opera House (New York) died here today of angina pectoris and complications.

Mrs. Taft in Washington.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 18.—Mrs. Taft reached Washington this afternoon and was taken directly to the White House. President Taft met her at the station and carried her home in an automobile. She stood the trip well.

ILLINOIS SENATE WANTS LORIMER CASE REOPENED

Special to Telegram.

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—The Illinois Senate today passed a resolution asking the United States Senate to reopen the Lorimer bribery case. The resolution passed by a vote of 39 to 10.

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—Holding that the election of Wm. Lorimer to the United States Senate "would not have occurred had it not been for bribery and corruption," and censuring Judge Pettit, of Chicago, for ending the usefulness of the committee, the final report of the state senate bribery investigating committee was made to the senate late yesterday. The report was a voluminous document, containing, in addition to testimony taken by the committee, the detailed report of the United States Senate's sub-committee's evidence in the Lorimer case and the transcripts of various bribery trials, all of which have resulted in verdicts of not guilty.

MURPHY'S ADVISOR TO SUPREME COURT BENCH.

Special to Telegram.

Albany, N. Y., May 18.—Governor Dix today nominated Murphy's chief advisor, Daniel F. Cohan, to the Supreme Court bench.

Mistaken Daughter For Burglar.

Special to Telegram.

Louisville, Ky., May 18.—Mistaken by her father for a burglar Miss Beulah May was shot in the face tonight. She is not fatally hurt, but will be disfigured for life.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—In the House today Congressman Charles M. Stedman, of the Fifth District of North Carolina, made his maiden speech. Maj. Stedman spoke in favor of the resolution to admit Arizona and New Mexico into the union.

As Major Stedman arose he was greeted by vociferous applause from his colleagues, the occupants of the galleries joining enthusiastically. Major Stedman spoke for little more than half an hour and he was given the closest attention. Time and again he was interrupted by the applause which spontaneously burst from the throats of the House members as the words of the speaker thrilled and swayed that august body.

Maj. Stedman said in part:

I can make no statement of facts to which attention has not already been directed in the discussion of the resolution now pending. The law with reference thereto is plain, direct and unchallenged. My strong conviction that it is just and proper that both the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, certainly Arizona, should be admitted to the Union and not the necessity for such advocacy alone prompts me to address this House. It has never been questioned that the territory embraced within the limits of New Mexico and Arizona, and, in fact, that all territory acquired by the United States should be admitted into the Union only by compliance with the provisions of the Constitution of the United States and the requirements of the ordinance of 1787, and it is equally true that the people of any State can change its fundamental laws so that they may suit their convenience and conform to what they may believe to be for their happiness, prosperity and best interest, provided that a Republican form of Government is maintained.

The majority of the committee reports favorably as to the admission as States of both territories—with a proviso to Arizona of resubmission of Article 8, which embodies the feature of the Recall to a vote of the people, and with a proviso as to New Mexico of resubmission to a vote of the people of Article 19, which makes an amendment to its present Constitution practically impossible. The status of the statehood of neither will be affected by the vote when resubmitted, it matters not what the result may be. I speak by authority of no one, but I venture the opinion that the resubmission to a vote in Arizona is directed, because the people of that territory are anxious to avoid further delay, and because of the known views of President Taft as to the Recall of Judges and doubt as to what his attitude may be. No other reason need be sought for as to the re-submission to a vote in New Mexico, except one founded upon the dictates of humanity, to give its people an opportunity to be saved from themselves by changing in fundamental respects a Constitution, which, though Republican in form, has the brand of the trusts stamped upon the instrument as distinctly as has the Texas pony that of his owner upon its body.

The minority of the committee reports favorably as to the admission of New Mexico, without qualification, and recommends the admission of Arizona with a proviso for a resubmission to a vote of Article 4, of its Constitution—its admission to be dependent upon the fact that Judges shall not be included in the recall as shall be evidenced by the result of the vote, when that feature of its constitution is resubmitted.

The resubmission to a vote of Article 19, Section 1, is an event which should be hailed with delight by the people of New Mexico. It is sincerely to be hoped that they will avail themselves of the opportunity to be rid of a feature in their Constitution which must necessarily in the future hinder their advancement and retard their prosperity and happiness. The student of the histories of republics will search in vain for an article in the constitution of any one of them more calculated to excite suspicion and distrust. In fact, he will find nothing like it. It can serve no good purpose. It should be destroyed by the vote of the people of New Mexico, who might with propriety preserve a copy of it in a museum to be shown to their youth in the years to come as

EXTERMINATE THE FLY.

The house fly is a most dangerous pest. The medical fraternity and health authorities are all agreed that the fly is the direct cause of much of the contagion from diseases of all kinds with which mankind is afflicted. The fly is a creature of filth. It is bred in filth and lives in filth except when it takes occasion to land in the buttermilk or turn somersault on baby's mouth. The animal trainer gets killed far too frequently by his pet lion. There is such a thing as becoming so used to danger that the awe of it ceases to be. This is the case it seems with the fly. We have learned to put up with this pest so long, to knock it off of our nose or fish it out of the soup that we seem content to submit to his continued stay among us. We take all sorts of chances every day with this terrible germ laden insect. Laws should not be necessary, but it seems that they are and stringent ones too, to force the people to take the proper steps for the extermination of this awful death-carrying pest. It is a matter of self-protection and of protection for the baby.

The authorities everywhere are adopting and enforcing by fines the laws requiring the wiping out of the breeding places of flies. It is a well known fact among the authorities and many of the laity that horse manure is the favorite breeding place for flies. The piles of this refuse thrown out in the back lot unscreened and open for all the flies in the country to lay their eggs and breed upon is the very hot bed for their productiveness.

If The Greensboro Telegram has been correctly informed the only city law here pertaining to this matter is that stables shall not be within fifty feet of a dining room. The manure is permitted to be thrown out in great piles throughout the city. The owners of stables, both public and private, should be required to properly screen, bury or haul off all the manure. They should not be permitted to continue to keep great piles of this stuff in the back lot for millions upon millions of flies to breed and scatter diseases. The breeding places must be gotten rid of before any relief can be expected. So-called fly killers, tanglefoot, etc., are good to get rid of a few flies but millions are being hatched out while these measures are exterminating a few hundred. It would be impossible if what the authorities say is correct, and we believe them, regarding the productiveness of this little creature, to manufacture enough fly paper to catch them all if they flew directly from their breeding places and alighted on the paper and this of course they do not do. They prefer to meander over baby's face and through the milk pail and other delicacies of the table before surrendering to these traps of man. There should be a concerted action on the part of the authorities and citizens to get rid of this pesky nuisance. Laws should be enacted forcing those who have stables to screen the manure piles and thus protect the health of the community. The Commissioners should look into this matter at once. They of course, have a great many things to consider but none more important and urgent than this. This fly question is a matter of life and death. Who knows who will be the next victim of typhoid fever or some other equally as terrible disease and all because this little measly insect is allowed to fly at large. Give this matter your attention gentlemen of the commission. It will only require a short time to draft such ordinances as will be of untold benefit to the health and life of this community. The city stables should be looked after to start with.

The drivers at the various fire stations should not be permitted to throw the manure out in the back lots in great piles to become a menace to the health of the people. This is a matter that needs prompt attention and action.

It is a pity that Secretary of War Dickinson did not defer the matter of his resignation for a few days. Peace has been declared in Mexico.

The Winston-Salem Journal says that touring parties come through that city very often—We can't understand what they want to do that for.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that there is no race suicide among the flies. There certainly is not. And they do not seem to require an incubator either. Swat the flies.

The Charlotte Observer is still talking about the ups and downs of the peace negotiations in Mexico. We would call the Observer's attention to the fact that peace has been declared in Mexico.

Then, too, perhaps those Durham fellows not being accustomed to automobiles, and having noticed in the papers from time to time the accounts of of speeders being arrested thought that was the proper way to receive the Greensboro Outfit.

The Charlotte Observer Says:

Following Raleigh's lead, Winston-Salem is making preparations to quarantine smallpox on its own account, regardless of the attitude of the State Board of Health on the matter. If these neighbors want to make a complete job let them couple with this excellent safeguard a campaign for universal vaccination.

Greensboro has always enjoyed these safeguards.

Meat For the Trusts.

The Times has seldom found itself agreeing with the emphatically expressed views of Colonel Roosevelt as president or ex-president, but in the light of the decision of the United States Supreme court, in the Standard Oil Company, it would seem that the ex-president was not far wrong when he declared that the highest court in the land, and not congress, was enacting with a free hand legislation which vitally affected the commerce of the country, and which under the trust meaning of the Constitution could only be enacted by congress.

We would again refer to Justice Harlan's dissenting opinion in this famous case wherein he boldly declares: "There are some things in this opinion (the Supreme court's) and that are to result from this opinion, which I think may well alarm thoughtful men, and I am unwilling to let them pass with any idea that I approve them. The most alarming tendency of this day, in my judgment, as far as the safety and integrity of our institutions are concerned, is the tendency to Judicial Legislation, so that, when men having vast interests are concerned and they cannot get the law-making power of the country which controls it to pass the legislation, they desire, the next thing they do is to raise the question in some case to get the court to so construe the legislation of the statutes to mean what they want it to mean. That has not been our practice."

Justice Harlan spoke with a prophetic voice when he declared that some things would result from the court's opinion which might well alarm thoughtful men.
Already the great beef trust has seen room for self-congratulation in the finding of the country's highest court, and the indicted beef packers have already moved for a rehearing on the strength of that evasive and almost cowardly term "reasonably restraint of trade."

It is well that for the moment the public scrutiny was eluded by the prospective "dissolution" of the old trust, otherwise had the majority of speculators and brokers taken time to fully grasp the meaning of the court's wide latitude, there would have been a triumphal parade of the "interests" on Wall street.

While the government's attorneys might find room for comfort in the fact that they virtually won their case, their splendid efforts in the long fight against the oil trust are practically fulfilled by a decision which opens the way for unlimited operations by other giant concerns, for where is the Solomon who will define what "undue" and "unreasonable" mean when the words are applied to trust operations?

As Mr. Dooley, of loving memory, once declared: "It's a ghate country we are livin' in intirely."—Asheville Citizen.

WHEN YOU'RE HIT FIRST

(By CARA REESE.)

There is always some unlucky individual who is hit first and who is the last to recover.

It is something like trade. In times of depression in business are some trades which are hit first and are the last to recover. This is because these trades deal with the luxuries of life.
People must have food, they must have clothes and shoes, they must have shelter and a degree of comfort. But they forego the gratification of tastes in art objects in fine craftsmanship, in the beauties of the silversmith or the rare books or costly exotics. They have been known to dispense with fine furs and to make the old furniture, carpets and curtains do indefinitely.

In other words the more exquisite and choice the business the more likely it is to be hit first when the dull season comes and the more likely to be last to recover. Still, those who enjoy their callings do their best under conditions as they arise. They talk and think about something else, other than dissolution, bankruptcy and hard luck. You might learn a few lessons in patience and the adaptation of affairs to given circumstances by comparing your lot, as an individual with the lot of the merchant in business.

If you take up the problems of existence, like the merchant who takes up the problems of trade, you must be prepared to weather the gale in adverse winds as well as when there is no sale but all smooth sailing. That which survives the greater length of time in the test of adversity is the plain, homely support without frills or fancies. The "soft snaps" and the white hands are usually hit first and are the last in recovering. It is the primitive idea, the foundations, the material and leaving the dainty and ornamental for restoration by slow degrees after the flood has passed.

Individuals have their right to make a choice as to their manner of living, as to the profession they desire to adopt, as to the standards of association. They have a right to select that which is pleasing to their taste, attractive and lucrative, the easy berth, the agreeable position, the comfortable pursuit. But they have no right to make a wry face when the inevitable accompaniment to their ideals and selections puts in appearance. There are long waits before the professions pays. Exclusiveness in a social sense is a bar when friendly counsel or assistance is needed. The recluse is frequently overlooked and the supersensitive and esthetic unheeded.

Still, there are so many compensations when living a trifle above the ordinary, or when engaged in an occupation dealing with the luxuries of life, that no one need be blamed for making a selection of welfare and of trade along the lighter and more pleasing ways. The thing to remember is this, that the luxuries are hit first in times of depression and are always the last to recover. Keep a brave heart and a sure foothold and have faith in the future. There are times when the homely and the substantial are all which seem enduring. So be it. Yet there are those who count themselves lucky in their own exclusive niche or trade even though hit first and the last to recover.

Household Hints

For Boiling Clothes.

When boiling your clothes always put them into cold water, as hot water sets the dirt into them. Put a little soda in (not too much, or else it will turn the clothes black), cut some small shreds off your soap, if you have not any old pieces, and put in the water.
Also dip your bluebag in just to make the water a nice light blue, and boil for 10 minutes. You will find in time your clothes will be a nice color. Tried with great success.

To Clean a Feather Pillow.

This can be done without removing the feathers. Put the pillows in a bath and scrub them with a small brush dipped in a solution of chloride of lime and warm water. Afterward rinse the pillows thoroughly, spread them on the grass to dry, or on tables in the open air, turning them constantly. After two days of this treatment in the warm sun pin the pillows on a clothes line on a very fine or windy day, till they are quite dry. Then beat them with a cane.
This will disentangle the feathers and the pillows will be like new.

Two Cleaners.

Boiled potatoes are an excellent substitute for soap when the hands have become soiled by contact with blackened pots and pans. Potato water should, besides, be kept for renovating silk.

Although vinegar may be used to clean the outside of copper cooking utensils, care should be taken to avoid letting any fall on the tin lining of the pan. To clean the pan inside and out by far the best method is to scrub it with soda, hot water and soap. The outside may be polished with a rag dipped in vinegar.

A LEADING CLOTHING
MERCHANT made the following remark about his advertising:

"I advertised some special prices on standard goods for one day only, I did not get the results that I should have gotten, I had inquiries but the people bought very little of the goods that I advertised but seemed to be more interested and bought more of other articles."

THIS MERCHANT was only giving ADVERTISING CREDIT for what was sold of the particular articles that were in the list, WHEN EV-ERY DOLLAR which was taken in from customers coming into the store to investigate the articles that were advertised, should have been credited to the advertising whether the articles for which the money was received were among those advertised or not.
THIS IS THE VERY MEAT
OF THE WHOLE MATTER OF ADVERTISING. The very underlying principle of all advertising is to attract people, old and new customers as well, to the stores and places of business of the advertisers.
ONCE the advertising brings the customer over the threshold it is up to you, MR. MER-CHANT, and your salesmen to do the rest. If you don't sell him a single article that you have advertised but make a good bill on other articles at your regular prices, you are the gainer, for if you are really making a SPECIAL BAR-GAIN PRICE on the articles that you are advertising, you certainly will not MAKE AS MUCH MONEY as you do on the articles that you are not CUTTING the PRICE ON, this is too plain to need further emphasis.

THE CARE OF CLOTHES

(By MARGARET E. SANGSTER.)

In half the secret of being well dressed is in knowing what to wear, the other half consists in keeping one's clothes in that exquisite daintiness which is better and more winning than style. The best time to take care of one's clothes is on taking them off, if possible.

Cloth dress skirts should be brushed before they are hung away, by an open window and with a whisk broom, which is better for this purpose than a softer brush. Silks and satins are best cleaned by wiping them with a soft flannel. All spots should be removed as soon as possible, with a suitable detergent. Grease or dust on wool fabrics that do not spot are best removed with alcohol or naptha; the former does well for wool, but naptha is best for silk and delicate mixtures of silk and wool.

Fuller's earth or French chalk is also effective in removing grease, if it is first mixed with water enough to make a thick paste, spread on the grease spot, and left for several days. If the first application does not remove the spot, the second application will. Stains of any kind are more difficult to remove.

Sometimes some tepid water and soap will suffice, but experiments, especially with ammonia, and other strong cleaning agents, are usually dangerous.
The safest way is to send the garment to a professional cleaner. In removing spots from delicate fabrics, if the color is affected, sponging with chloroform will often restore it. If the spot is made by an acid, touch it delicately with ammonia, which will neutralize the acid. If an alkali, such as ammonia, soda, or potash, be the spotting agent, reverse the former process and touch the spots with weak acid, such as lemon juice and water, or vinegar and water, with a soft cloth. Black silk is best cleansed and renovated by being first rubbed with a flannel, then saturated with a strong mixture of tea and vinegar, and ironed while still wet with a very hot iron.

Dresses carefully folded and laid away in large boxes or drawers probably kept fresh longer than those hung in a closet.
This, however, is not always possible in the case of one's everyday frocks.

These, if hung away carefully on the shoulder-frames that are made for that purpose, will surely not suffer thereby.
A clever woman once made a substitute for these curved shoulder-frames by winding barrel hoops cut in half with strips of cheese cloth. Coats are better hung by loops from the upper armhole boxes, as their own weight is likely to crease them.

If bags, fastened at the top with a drawstring, be used to encase these garments, they are always hermetically sealed against dust, and there is little added danger from crushing. Hats and bonnets should always be brushed with a soft brush (a paint brush is excellent), subjected to that dainty digital manipulation which will restore any disarrangement of the trimming, and then kept in a hat box. If they are laid on a shelf instead, a cone made of tissue paper should be slipped like a sheet over them.

A WIFE'S AFFECTION

(By FRANCES WILEY.)

Many a man who has lost his wife's affection wonders why. It rarely occurs to him, strange to say, to blame himself.

He usually thinks it is the woman's fault—she is fickle, she perhaps has learned to care for someone else, etc.

The truth is she has probably lost all respect for him.

This is more than anything else the cause of the average unhappy marriage.
The wife gradually loses all respect for her husband.

What are you going to do about it, you grave gentlemen who pretend to decide the divorce question so easily?

You had better educate your brother men, it seems to me, instead of blaming the women. Educate them to keep their word, not to lie, not to be stingy, not to be lazy, not to be selfish.

You blame your wife for her growing indifference toward you; do you really think she can ever forget that first night when you stumbled into her home and yours with the smell of whisky on your breath, dead to the world, maudlin, disgusting? Do you think she can ever feel the same toward you afterward?
No! I should say not.

Do you remember the time you cheated her on the house allowance because you had been playing poker with the money meant to pay the grocery bill?
Do you think she will ever readily trust you again?

And the time you lied to her, the many times you lied, and told her she could trust you and failed her—worst of all, the time you forced her to scrimp and save, while you spent money extravagantly—how would you feel if anyone did that to you?

If a man only understood that what he needs above all is the wife's respect! If he keeps that, if he sees to it that it increases also; otherwise, if he persists in teaching her that he is a liar, a cheat, a bully, or a monument of selfishness, you can hardly blame her for learning to despise him more day by day.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fan-ly perils to guard against in swamps in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric

FADS OF THE FASHIONS

A very new veil is fish pink spotted with black.

Dotted and striped fabrics are much in vogue.

Large and small flowers are used on the new hats.

The lives of umbrella ribs are prolonged if the pivot ends are oiled to prevent rusting.

The Chantilly lace veil has been discarded by the smart women.

Toques made entirely of flowers will be much worn.

The newest hats for girls are the rolling-brim sailors.

Even washable cotton and line materials are beaded.

Red and blue, violet and blue, lavender and pink, and gray and yellow are combinations seen in many evening models.

Auto capes come of chiffon cloth, of fine marquisette or grenadine with plain or printed borders in ribbon effects. It is now the fad to use the kinds that are waterproof, and there are several of them.

One of the new hats has a crown and inner brim of white lace woven with a silver thread, the outer brim of gray hemp and the sole trimming two immense silk peonies, one of bright shaded pink, the other the color of dead autumn leaves curiously mottled.

One-sided frills of finest linen lace and embroidery are made to button in with a front buttoning blouse, or are attached to a band that will run down the front of a blouse buttoning in the back. Sometimes these frills are accompanied by plaited frill collars finishing the collarless blouse neck by a straight standing collar or stock.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

GUILE OF DRONGO CUCKOO

Protected by Its Resemblance to Pugnacious Shrike, It Lays Its Eggs Where It Pleases.

A striking example of protective coloring in birds has just been added to the collection of the Brooklyn Institute Museum in the form of a drongo shrike and a drongo cuckoo.

The shrike is a bird of pugnacious disposition, especially at the nesting season, when it guards its nest with, for a small bird, great ferocity. Douglas Dewar, from whom this account is taken, says that he has watched a pair of these little birds attack and drive away a monkey which tried to climb into the tree in which their nest was placed. Indeed, so able a fighter is the shrike that some other birds, notably orioles and doves, frequently build their nests in the same tree in order to share the benefit of his prowess.

The drongo cuckoo lays its eggs in the nests of such birds as the king crow. These are pugnacious, even ferocious, and without some guile a cuckoo could not accomplish this feat. But the drongo cuckoo is so like the drongo shrike, even having the same odd twist to its tail feathers, that the king crow is deceived by the resemblance and hesitates to give fight to what she takes to be one of the pugnacious shrikes.

VELASQUEZ A CHEAP ARTIST

As Court Painter He Received $11 a Month When He Was About Twenty-five Years Old.

Don Caspar de Guzman, Conde-Duque d'Olivarez, born in Rome in 1587, became the first minister of Philip IV. In 1621, was dismissed in 1643 after a career of mismanagement and died in exile two years later. A patron of the painter's, it was through him that Velasquez at twenty-four became court painter to the young king at eighteen. In return Velasquez painted a number of portraits for his protector. The notable example, which has recently been presented to the Hispanic museum of New York, was painted when Velasquez was about twenty-five years old, shortly after he came to court.

The canvas, measuring 51 by 85 inches, came from Capt. Robert S. Holford of London, in whose possession it had long been held after having passed through the Battle sale in 1858, when it sold for $258 10s., and the Scarborough sale in 1861, when it sold for $262 10s., very moderate sums compared to the surprising figure said to have been paid for it recently. At the time it was painted Velasquez was receiving $11 a month for his services as court painter.—W. Stanton Howard, in Harper's Magazine.

A Manly Minister.

There'll be less sleeping done in future in the First Christian church of Los Angeles, because the pastor just won't stand for it, as is evidenced by what he did some nights ago. It seems that the worthy man went into the pulpit to discourse, when he was annoyed by two men who were sound asleep in one of the front pews. He called attention to the fact, and one of the sleepers was aroused, and did not transgress again, but his partner did not wake to the rebuke, and quietly slept on. The parson became indignant, and as he had several hymn books in the pulpit with him, he fired one or two at the sleeper, but without avail, and then he unloaded all the books he had at the intruder, to the astonishment of the congregation, who by this time were tittering at a great rate, but the sleeper didn't seem to mind it much, for he looked up, changed his position, and fell asleep again. This is an astonishing case, probably unparalleled in history, but it goes to show that there's a limit to what preachers will stand, even when they are in the pulpit. And they are right. If a man doesn't go to church to worship, he should remain away, and such sacrilegious scamps as sleep, chatter and scandalize should be put out.—New Orleans Picayune.

Circulating Libraries.

It is absolutely impossible to say just when the first circulating library was opened. If there was ever a record of the important event, it is lost. We know that during the middle ages stations used to lend books on hire, and here, no doubt, we have the germ of the modern circulating library. One Samuel Fancourt started a real circulating library in England about the year 1740, but it appears that the people were not ready for it, since it soon failed. Similar institutions at Bath and London, some ten years later, seem to have succeeded, and from that time the circulating library began to get a foothold, not only in England, but in other European countries.

Dead Ones.

"Why, three generations of my family have lived and died in this country," he boasted, "before your ancestors were able to raise the amount they needed to come over in the steerage."

"Very true. But those three generations of your family are still dead ones, I believe."

Only Once.

"How often, my good man," said the stranger at the wayside station, "do the trains stop here?"
"The trains stop here," said the sour station porter, "only once. After that they start."—Stray Stories.

INFLUENCE OF WEST POINT

Cadet on Home Visit Surprises Young Brother and Teaches Him Good Lesson.

When Bob, our gallant West Point cadet, came home for his long furlough, he slept with 12-year-old Dick. In the morning he thoroughly shook Master Lazybones by stripping the clothes from the bed and putting the room in good order before he came down to breakfast. Dick's eyes were rounder than ever when Bob explained that every cadet was required to keep his room and clothes in immaculate condition. Before the end of Bob's furlough the boys had turned the cozy little room into a bare apartment which Dick cared for with great pride.

The wholesome discipline and results of the West Point training seem to us to offer valuable lessons to American parents and teachers.

Shortly after Bob's visit the question of extra spending money worked itself out in a very satisfactory way. Dick often teased for things that were beyond the limits of his moderate allowance. He is now able to add to his income by working around the house and grounds. Each hour of conscientious effort adds six cents to his allowance. Consequently he is eager to wash dishes, sweep, weed, paint, wash windows, and do many other things that he formerly regarded as particularly obnoxious.

His parents and friends have noticed with amusement that the money he has earned is spent with much greater discrimination than that which is given to him.—Harper's Bazar.

EASY, HONORABLE WAY OUT

French Ambassador's Good Story of a French Duke Illustrates His Definition of Diplomacy.

The French ambassador, at one of the superb dinners at the embassy in Washington, said of diplomacy: "Diplomacy may be defined as a way out—an easy, pleasant, honorable way out."

"A young royalist duke, from a story current about him, is well versed in diplomacy."

"This young man visited a millionaire in Cannes during the Riviera season, and his host's daughter was thrown at his head—so much so, in fact, that when he came to leave Cannes his hostess took him aside and declared gravely:

"It's reported all over that you art to marry Claire. I don't know what to say to people."
"The duke smiled easily.
"Oh, just tell them," he said, "that Claire refused me."

The Useful Killdeer.

The killdeer, if it is eaten at all in this part of the country, cannot stand in high favor. There is no talk of killdeer hunting. They are not to be perceived in the string of birds the successful hunter likes to display. But there are pathetic evidence to be noted on the beaches that those "sportsmen" who "shoot at anything living find in the killdeer a target to their liking.

In a bulletin just put out by the agriculture department it appears that this beautiful, if somewhat unmusical bird, renders very efficient service to mankind. It preys upon mosquito larvae. The diving beetle, a great enemy to the fish hatcheries and destructive to fish food, is a tit-bit very much to the taste of the killdeer. He is an industrious hunter of the crayfish which are a nuisance where marshland is dyked. He follows the plow of the farmer and picks up grubs, cut worms, leaf beetles and other pests of agriculture. He eats kittle or no vegetable food, and probably then, as in the case of the quail, only if he can find no insects.—Toledo Blade.

Smuggling in Italy.

Smuggling goods into Italy by aeroplane, which has led to a serious accident near Mont Cenis, will probably be extensively practiced in the future, despite the attendant risks. The Italian laws against smuggling are most severe. A peasant caught with only a pound of contraband tobacco is pretty sure to incur two years' imprisonment, besides paying a heavy fine. The customs officials, too, are authorized to shoot persons crossing the frontier who refuse to halt when challenged, and several lives are thus sacrificed every year. Still, the profits of smuggling are so great that many brave these perils. A knapsack filled with tobacco or salt, safely landed, yields a small fortune to the smuggler, so heavy are the taxes upon these.

Cheeses as Heirlooms.

In some parts of Switzerland it is said that cheeses form family heirlooms which are sometimes handed down from one generation to another. At Les Ormonts, in the canton of Vaud, it is customary to make special cheeses for certain family feasts. They are tagged with explanatory labels and eaten several years later, at other feasts, or even at funerals. Recently, at Les Ormonts, in a concealed shelter, there was discovered a cheese dating from 1785. It was as hard as a rock and had to be cut with a saw. It is reported to have tasted good.

Cardinal Gibbons Celebrates His Twenty-fifth Anniversary

CARDINAL JAMES GIBBONS recently celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to that rank and at the same time celebrated his fifty-fifth year as a priest. The occasion was thus a silver as well as a golden jubilee, and the Father of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, in New York, presented to the only American cardinal a coat of arms elaborately carved, painted and inlaid in gold and silver. The coat of arms, which was painted by William L. Harris, shows a crozier, a pastoral staff and a cross. At the top of the pastoral staff is the red hat of the cardinal, and to the left is the miter. Crozier, staff and miter are inlaid with gold. The shield that bears the coat of arms is quartered in the American red, white and blue and is decorated with the star of liberty, the cross of the church and the scallop shell of St. James. Three lions' heads appear in silver on a field of black, and at the base of the shield is the cardinal's motto, "Emite Spiritum Tuum."

HEALTH BOARD OF COUNTY ELECTS DR. G. FLOYD ROSS

The County Board of Health met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and elected Dr. G. Floyd Ross county superintendent of health, to devote his entire time to the duties of his office. The salary will be $2,500 per year. Dr. Ross will enter actively upon his duties about July 1, but will do some special work prior to that time. Dr. A. F. Fortune, present county physician, will continue his work until Dr. Ross assumes active charge.

The last legislature passed an act empowering the County Commissioners to employ a superintendent of health in case they saw fit and by their action in making an appropriation for the salary of such an official placed Guilford county again in the front. The success of the work in Guilford will be watched with interest by many of her sister counties. So far as is known Guilford is the first county in the entire south to employ the services of a physician to attend to matters pertaining to the health of its citizenship.

NOTICE TO SELLERS OF NEAR BEER.

All persons selling Near Beer are notified to obtain this license in advance. B. E. JONES, Sheriff.

NOT JUST WHAT HE WIRED

Wife Refused to Wait, but It Was No Wonder That She Was Angry.

A speaker at a dinner in New York, said of certain customs doggers:

"They do very incriminating things, then they claim that these things are mistakes. Granting them to be mistakes, they are suspicious—as suspicious as the business man's wire."

"The wife of a young business man got a wire from her husband the other evening that said:

"Shall dine with Milly Brown, an old gal of mine. Will be late. Don't wait for me."

"When the business man reached home at midnight, his wife met him in the hall.

"'Wall for you!' she sneered. 'Why, I wouldn't wait for the best man that ever lived. Let alone you!'

"'Why, my dear,' he stammered. 'Then, bursting into tears she handed him the telegram, and in a fifty he explained that what he had really wired was:

"'Shall dine with Billy Brown, an old pal of mine. Will be late. Don't wait for me.'"

That Was the Diagnosis of Skin Disease Patient Made by Lithographic Pressman.

A lithographic pressman, who has had a lot of trouble with metal plates in his time, was recently taken ill and went to the Post-graduate hospital on a day that a clinic was being held. By mistake he got into a room where the student doctors were beginning to assemble and was taken for one of them. In a short time the professor who was to lecture to the class came in, accompanied by a patient who was afflicted with some sort of skin disease which made his face appear rough and unsightly. The professor began to "quiz" the students as to the probable cause of the disease and its cure. The lithographer listened with interest. After a while it came his turn to answer questions. Being asked his opinion as to the cause of the eruptions, and not to be caught without an answer in this, to him, new game, he said: "I don't know exactly what ails him, but it looks to me as if the cuss was beginning to oxidize."—National Lithographer.

PROF. CHASE WILL ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

The Class Day exercises of the Greensboro High School were held evening in the Smith Memorial building, there being a large audience of patrons and friends of the school present to witness the exercises. The program, as printed yesterday morning, was carried out, each number being greatly enjoyed. The building was decorated in the High School colors and with flowers and potted plants. Each of the participants in the program were presented with handsome bouquets of flowers, some of the students having more flowers than they could well get away with.

Following the exercises the Senior class and commencement marshals were entertained by Miss Ruth Lindau and a couple of hours were spent most delightfully.

This evening at 8:30 o'clock in the opera house the graduating exercises will take place, at which time the diplomas will be presented to the twenty-nine graduates of the High School. The address of the occasion will be delivered by Prof. Chase, of the State University. The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises at the Grand tonight.

The commencement marshals are: Chief: Forrest Murray; assistants: William Grimsley, Herman Cone, Ralph Lewis, Ruth Vanstort, Mary Beall, Lynn Richardson, Lucille Devlin.

No Figure of Speech.

Of all the things that may befall a church, nothing could be much stranger than the destruction of a little house of worship north of Hudson Bay, as once reported by Bishop Williams of Marquette.

He had attended a synod of the Canadian church at Winnipeg, and there had seen a missionary bishop, who had been six weeks on the way, having come most of the distance in a canoe. The missionary bishop reported gravely that the diocese of a brother bishop had "gone to the dogs."

Being asked for an explanation, he said that the Eskimos in the diocese had built a church with walrus ribs for rafters, and covered it with walrus hide. The little church held eighty persons; but in the time that elapsed between two services the building was set upon by a pack of famished dogs, and demolished in a few hours.—Youth's Companion.

True to the Death.

Not long since the driver of the engine on one of the Belgian lines of railway saw a large dog on the roadway between the metals. He put on the whistle, yet it did not move, but only stood and barked furiously at the approaching engine. Still on, on, came the train, and still there stood the dog, more furious than before. The train passed, and at the next station it was noticed that a part of a dress was clinging to the wheel guard. A messenger was sent back, when a dead child was found, and whom the noble dog tried to protect to the very last, giving his very life sooner than flinch from his trust.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, L. A. May 18.—Liverpool was again rather indifferent and spot sales are small but supplies are so distributed that easiness in one market hardly affects the others. With port stocks in this country 100,000 less than last year, stocks at the counted interior towns 63,000 less and continental stocks about 50,000 less than at this time last year, the contract markets on our side are bound to feel and express more the effect of the bullish supply situation.

Information comes from New York that the uncovered short interest in July is still large. Relief from such a situation can only come from some momentous rabid cause or from unusually large early supplies. Indications are for stationary conditions during the next 24 hours but a large storm area is now moving eastward over the lakes and may cause a break in the dry spell in the southern States over Sunday.

HAYWARD & CLARK.

New York, May 17.—The Journal of Commerce says:

Knit goods manufacturers report a decided improvement in trade. The warm weather during last week has forced the consumer to restock his underwear and hosiery, with the result that, retailers supplies are becoming very low. Underwear manufacturers are anticipating that June will be a record month for summer underwear.

The Great Can Afford to Be Simple. It takes a very great personage indeed to carry the principle of being unostentatious into modern entertaining, says the Gentlewoman of London. The almost universal idea nowadays seems to provide gorgeous flowers, the drier cri in music, and any amount of succulent viands as a bribe to smart young men and women of fashion, if haply they be kind enough to come and dine or dance.

Yet even in society there are yet one or two houses where a simple buffet supper is thought to be all sufficient, and I know of one such house where plates of biscuits and sandwiches, with lemonade and claret cup are considered ample refreshment for the very distinguished guests who are from time to time invited to evening parties in the particular mansion.

Several Things and an Architect.

"Seeing is believing, eh?" said an oculist. "Well, no saw was ever more absurd than that. You see a horse's head and a four barrel, and you believe the barrel is longer than the horse's head, don't you? Well, it isn't. The horse's head from the tips of his ears to the end of his nose is longer than the barrel by a considerable distance.

"Architects have to deceive—to lie—to the eye in order to make their buildings look symmetrical. They make walls lean inward that they may appear vertical. They make windows wider at the top. They make columns thicker in the middle than at the summit or the base. And the top lines of a building, in order to appear plumb to the silly eye of man, must be raised up quite a lot in the center."

CIGAR DEALER'S READY WIT

Philadelphian Takes Advantage of Customer's Mistake to Hasten Payment of His Account.

Harry Petosky, who conducts a cigar store in Philadelphia is the possessor of an old fashioned typewriter upon which he makes out bills and occasionally writes a letter. At the end of every typewritten page he is in the habit of putting H. P.—I. C. S., the first two being his initials and the last set for Independent Cigar Store.

A few weeks ago, in writing to a delinquent customer to remit his account, he forgot to attach the series of letters. The customer, noting the defection in the letter, answered at once, saying in part: "What has become of your stenographer since you wrote me last? I notice you did not put H. P.—I. C. S. on your letter."

For the time surprised at the false impression he had been creating, Harry, with ready wit, answered at once: "Had to fire the poor girl this week, because you're holding a week's salary that I wanted to give her. Please remit at once."

Untainted.

Tempted by an offer of considerably more than the property had cost him, Mr. Kreezus, who counted his wealth in millions, had parted with his suburban villa. "You didn't need the money," said his disgusted business partner, who had just heard of the transaction, "yet for a little filthy lucre you sold that beautiful home!" "I didn't!" exclaimed the equally indignant Mr. Kreezus. "I sold it for clean cash!"—Youth's Companion.

NORTH STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 18.—The automobile party of Guilford county railroad boosters who made the run yesterday from Greensboro to Henderson to stir enthusiasm for the proposed railroad from Greensboro to Oxford and Henderson, reached Raleigh about noon today and took a "breathing spell" before continuing their run to Durham where they proposed to take lunch and thence to Greensboro, where they were scheduled to arrive at 6 o'clock. They came to Raleigh from Henderson this forenoon via Salisbury and Franklin. They were enthusiastic in praise of the fine Sunday roads they found between Salisbury and Franklin. They were agreeably surprised at the condition of roads all along the route. They traveled 57 miles this morning to reach Raleigh within 3 hours and 11 minutes. They say the interest and enthusiasm for good roads all along the route was immense. They were boosting good roads only incidentally, the railroad project being their special mission on the Greensboro-Henderson run. And they were in no way disappointed in the results for this enterprise. Indeed, they found the people anxious to a degree to do all they possibly can to help along the enterprise.

Director F. A. Olds, of the North Carolina Hall of History has learned of a gentleman in one of the counties in the central section of the state who has the first steam engine ever brought to North Carolina and has also the data to prove the claim to this distinction. Col. Olds is trying to secure this relic for the hall of history.

The Seaboard Air Line authorities have decided to tear away a quaint old building that was erected here in 1840 as railroad shops and erect on the site a commodious warehouse for supplies on this division of the Seaboard.

There has just been installed in the Hall of History a notable exhibit from Salem, N. C., that is attracting a very great deal of attention. It came as a loan from the Wachovia Historical Society of Salem and consists of about 200 articles illustrating Moravian life and industry from 1756 down to the close of the Civil War. There is a section of water pipe that was used in providing a system of water supply for the old town of Salem from 1791, when Washington was a visitor in Salem, down to 1860.

A letter received here from H. B. Varner, president of the North Carolina Central Highway trustees, is to the effect that the highway route will be "blazed" all the way to the Tennessee line. While the run eastward that is to begin June 5 will start from the town of Marshall, a couple of days will be devoted prior to this to making the run from the Tennessee line to Marshall. Interest in the great highway enterprise is, Mr. Varner says, growing wonderfully.

Governor Kitchin delivers his address in connection with the Davidson College commencement May 31 instead of May 30 as some of the papers in the state have announced it.

It is expected that when the Wake county commissioners meet in special session May 20 to order an election throughout the county on the question of the issuance of $25,000 bonds and levy of $2,500 special tax for the proposed county farm life school they will name August 31 as the day for the election. The indications are that there will be little, if any opposition to the bond issue.

W. L. Duncan, of Baltimore, has declined to accept the invitation to become the first secretary of the Raleigh Young Men's Christian Association for which $100,000 subscriptions were taken in a whirl wind campaign for the association building. The first instalments of the pledges to this building fund fall due June 1. And it is expected that the announcement of the location selected by the building committee for the association building will be announced at that time.

A very valuable bulletin is issued by the state department of agriculture setting forth variety tests of corn and cotton on the several state test farms in the state conducted by the department. The publication is regarded as most valuable for the farmers and is being widely and freely circulated.

A statement from the city clerk shows that the bonded indebtedness of Raleigh is $467,500. And the total liabilities are $512,608. On the other hand the assets are cash on hand $3,305, sinking fund assets, $51,810, balance (net indebtedness $457,493). The assessed valuation of property in 1910 was: Real estate, $6,798,800; personal property, $3,285,188. Total valuation $10,083,988.

State Horticulturalist W. N. Hutt gives very scant encouragement for any hope that there will be anything like a fair peach crop in this state this year. He says there are more in the sand hill region than in any other section of the state and that the yield event in the sand hills is considerably curtailed. The apple crop he thinks will be fairly good all over the state.

Editor Clarence H. Poe, of the Progressive Farmer, has accepted a pressing invitation to deliver the commencement address for the Mississippi State Agricultural College at Starkville, Miss., June 7. Governor Harmon, of Ohio, had promised to deliver the address but found it necessary to cancel the engagement. President J. C. Hardy, of the college, wired Mr. Poe last night that his people were very anxious for him to come and deliver the address. The Mississippi Agricultural College has seven hundred students.

Governor Kitchin will be in Charlotte tomorrow to deliver an educational address. He will return to Raleigh Saturday most probably.

State Treasurer B. R. Lacy has procured from Attorney General T. W. Bickett a ruling that the city and county authorities can issue licenses pro rata for near beer dealers to cover the month of June, the near-beer prohibition act of the last legislature being effective July 1. A number of the counties had held up the issuance of such licenses until the ruling by the attorney general was available.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The following regarding books of fiction at the library is handed The Telegram for publication:

A North Carolinian's novel about the mountain people of our own state is a late welcome addition to the fiction department of the public library. "In the Nantahalas" is the pleasing title and the book has received the most cordial commendation from a number of prominent journals, a full column being written in its praise in a recent number of the North Carolina Review.

The gifted author (Mrs. F. L. Townsend of Leaksville) has spent this week with friends in this city where she is best remembered as Miss Metta Folger, Salutatorian of her class at G. F. College in 1882. Before her marriage she was for a number of years an eminently successful teacher in the public schools of Raleigh.

NEAR BEER DEALERS EXPECT BIG BUSINESS DURING JUNE

The days of the near beer establishments in North Carolina are fast drawing to a close and after July 1, no near beer can be sold legally in the State. However, the near beer dealers are counting on doing a rushing business during the month and ten days they can remain in business and a goodly number of them will secure license to do business throughout the month of June, the state licenses expiring on June 1.

Heretofore the state had not been selling a license for less than a year and the county officers did not know just what to do regarding the granting of license for a single month. Attorney General Bickett advised, however, that inasmuch as there was a conflict between the former law and the law prohibiting the sale of near beer, insofar as license is concerned, that the county officers can collect license taxes for one month, one twelfth of the annual license.

The Board of Commissioners yesterday fixed the city license tax on near beer establishments at $50 for the month of June. The old license was $500 per year, the limit allowed under the old charter. There are four near beer establishments in Greensboro.

HETTY GREEN RENTS BUSINESS OFFICES

She Has Incorporated the Westminster Company, and Trinity Building Will House It.

New York, May 17.—Hetty Green has taken a long lease of a suite of rooms on the sixth floor of the Trinity building, No. 115 Broadway, and will make her headquarters there hereafter. She has incorporated the Westminster Company with a capital of $125,000, and after June 1 will transact her large business deals hereafter through this corporation. Her plan to form a trust company for this purpose has been abandoned. The Westminster will exercise some of the functions of a private banking corporation. While its capital is nominal it is estimated to have assets of about $100,000,000, which represents the fortunes of Mrs. Green and her son. The Westminster Company's suite adjoins that recently rented by William E. Corey, ex-President of the United States Steel Corporation.

Mrs. Green has made a specialty of real estate, mortgage and gilt edged stocks and bonds, and the Westminster Company's investments will be confined to them.

Col. Green will be the President, Treasurer and active manager of the new corporation, but Mrs. Green, notwithstanding her seventy-six years, will continue to supervise his activities.

This is the first time that Mrs. Green has really had an office of her own. Heretofore she has had a desk in banks.

FIRST LEAF SOLD IN DURHAM FORTY YEARS AGO.

Durham, May 18.—Forty years ago today, May 18, 1871, the first leaf of tobacco was sold in Durham at a warehouse that stood on the corner of Carr and Pettigrew streets, where the Bull factory is now located. The place was designated at that time as Durham station, Orange county, and when Mr. Henry A. Reams, who now resides here, announced that he would open a warehouse for the sale of leaf tobacco, farmers came from every direction to Durham. The warehouse was a two-story building, and on the opening day the floors were covered with tobacco, and much of the weed was placed on the ground surrounding the building. More than 60,000 pounds was sold on the first day, much of the tobacco bringing fabulous prices.

Mr. Reams has seen the small place of forty years ago, with its 200 inhabitants, grow until today the population of Durham and suburbs is more than 25,000. He has seen wonderful changes made in business here, and aided in securing Durham county, with Durham as the county seat.

MRS. JOHNSON FIGHTING TO CLEAR NAME OF STAIN.

Special to Telegram. New York, May 18.—Mrs. Margaret Brown Johnson, known as Margaret Johnson, the famous Lexington belle, emphatically denies every charge brought against her by Robert Hoe. "My life is unbearable from the notoriety thrust upon me," she says. "If young Hoe's only object is to protect his estate from an unscrupulous woman why all this publicity; why not fight the suit with sealed papers. The fact that Mr. Hoe's memory is sullied causes me as much suffering as the false position in which I am placed. I have been offered $25,000 to settle my claim at its face value, but I will not. I am fighting to clear Mr. Hoe's memory and my own name from stain. I am confident that I shall be vindicated when my defense is set forth."

Memory should be like the moon—bright, even though distant.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 17.—A call was issued today for the business men of Raleigh to assemble in mass meeting Thursday night of next week for the purpose of taking action relative to increasing the membership of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and possibly changing the name to the Greater Raleigh Club or some other more general name that may be desired. The membership is now considerably less than 200 and the goal set for the reorganization movement is 500.

Two new corporations were chartered today. The Kent-Jordan Co., Greensboro, capital $40,000, by William Kent, James F. Jordan and others. The authorized capital is $150,000. The second charter is to the Tomahawk Dumber Co., Fayetteville, capital $50,000, by W. T. Bowen, E. B. Malone and others for a general lumber and timber business.

A. and M. College—Sophomore-Freshmen Social.

The Sophomore and Freshmen classes of the A. & M. College held their first and last social of the season in the college chapel last night, at 8:30 to 10:30. The opening address was delivered by Dr. J. A. Byers, after which refreshments were served in the dining hall. The toasts were enjoyed by all. J. A. Snead was toastmaster and able speeches were made by J. H. Williams and others.

Bar Meeting! To set calendar, for June term, in the clerk's office at 3:30 p. m. on Saturday, May 20, 1911.

JAS. T. MOREHEAD, Chairman.

Funeral Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Robert G. White, whose death was mentioned yesterday morning, was held from the late residence yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by his pastor, Rev. E. K. McLarty. The interment was in Green Hill cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: A. W. Cooke, R. M. Rees, W. E. Eutsler, D. W. Prince, Drs. S. W. Tucker and G. W. Whitsett.

Mrs. Fowler's Funeral This Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. A. F. Fowler, whose death occurred Wednesday night, will be held from the late residence, 106 South Green street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Melton Clark, assisted by Rev. R. M. Williams. The interment will follow in Green Hill.

Commissioners Met Yesterday

The County Commissioners met yesterday for the purpose of holding a session with the County Board of Health and electing a county superintendent of health. The board also went out and inspected the county home and work house. They found both institutions in splendid condition. The buildings are being treated to a coat of paint, this helping the appearance of the buildings considerably.

Revival Services Begin.

Revival services will begin at the Gospel mission, 112 North Green street this evening, the meetings to continue through ten days. There will be services at 8 o'clock each night. The public cordially invited.

Auction Sale Yesterday.

R. L. England yesterday sold at auction the Tom Cheek farm, 3 miles east of the city. W. H. Osborn was the purchaser. Mr. England also sold 4 acres at Piedmont Heights, the purchaser being Wm. Young, of Graham.

END OF SESSION IS NOT IN SIGHT

Congress Likely to Last Until September.

SENATE TAKING ITS TIME.

Senators Believe That Canadian Reciprocity Is Daily Becoming Less Popular, and They Wish to Delay Action. Free List Bill and the Lorimer Case Will Also Make Talk.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, May 17.—(Special).—Congress has been in session six weeks, and it is just about six weeks to the 1st of July. There were wise ones who said that congress would adjourn before the glorious Fourth. I do not know where they are now, but it is evident that at the pace it is proceeding congress will not get away from Washington until September.

The Democrats have not much more than begun upon their tariff program, although it will be impossible to take up as much time on any one bill as was occupied on the free list bill. It looks as if most of the house members were about "talked out."

But the senate has not commenced. That body is deliberative, and there are a lot of senators who intend to deliberate the Canadian reciprocity agreement as long as possible. They fancy that it is becoming more and more unpopular each week and that if it can be delayed long enough it may be defeated. But that is not likely. At the same time there is a prospect of a lengthy session before the tariff bills are passed.

Other Talk Makers.
If the reciprocity agreement and the free list bill did not furnish enough senatorial conversation there are the election of senators by direct vote and the campaign publicity bill, the reopening of the Lorimer case and a few little things like the disturbance in Mexico, with almost any other topic that may come up to hold the senate in session.

The only hope people have who want to see congress adjourn is that the members will get tired of staying here during the hot weather and will seek any old excuse to adjourn.

It Is Really Amusing.
Now, really there is nothing more interesting in Washington than a day in the house when such men as Uncle Joe Cannon, Seneca E. Payne, John Dalzell and James R. Mann criticize the Democratic majority for "steam roller" methods, for hidebound caucus action and similar taunts and slurs.

"Not one of you dare vote your convictions," shouted Payne, erstwhile majority leader. "You are bound hand and foot by caucus dictation."

That was amusing, for the same thing has been flung in the faces of Republicans for sixteen years—well, perhaps fourteen years is more accurate, for the last two years there has been a breaking away from the Republican caucus. Payne, Cannon, Dalzell, Mann and the others always worked the caucus method. They carried it as far as they could and finally created a crop of insurgents which downed the Republican party.

That is what makes it so funny to hear them shouting caucus dictation to the Democrats. If one could reverse the terms and names the language of the Democrats for fourteen years is now being used by the Republicans in the first days of their minority.

What You Can Do With Figures.
We were all under the impression that the Democrats carried the country last fall and were in the majority in the house at least, but according to figures produced by Congressman Sloan of Nebraska the Democrats are a minority party.

Here is the way he makes the figures talk: The Democratic candidates for congress in the last election received 5,721,580 votes, the Republican candidates 5,592,814. The Democratic plurality being 128,766. But the total vote cast for all candidates opposed to the Democratic candidates was 6,320,190. Consequently the Democrats lacked 598,600 of a majority.

But that did not faze the house Democrats. They went ahead and pushed the steam roller over the Republicans without regard to those figures.

A Colorado Insurgent.
When amendments were in order, or rather, in view of the prompt rulings of Chairman Alexander of Missouri, were out of order, to the free list bill Congressman Rucker offered one retaining the duty on meats.

"There are several distinguished features about this amendment," said Rucker. "One is that it is about the most unpopular amendment that has been offered here today. Another is that it is offered by about the most unpopular fellow just at this time on this side of the house. Another is that it will get about only one vote on this side of the house."

Then he made a plea for the stock raiser. "The day of the cattle baron has passed," he said. He went on to say how they used to drive cattle from Texas to Chicago and from the Rio Grande to the Canadian boundary, but that is now all gone with many other interesting features of the great west.

TAFT IS SITTING ON MEXICO LID

"Do Nothing" Policy Just Now Seems Popular.

ARMY WILL BE OVERHAULED.

Charges of Inefficiency and Bad Management to Be Investigated—Present House Manifests a Desire to Get All Possible Information on Various Government Affairs.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, May 17.—(Special).—was a favorite expression of former President Roosevelt that President Taft was the best man he had to "sit on the lid." That is what President Taft is doing in regard to Mexico, and it is difficult to see what better plan any one could pursue.

Of course the temptation to "do things," which was so characteristic of Roosevelt, must be very great, but the fact is that the longer the Taft administration refrains from "doing things" the better most people will like it. So far the only real warlike demonstration has been made by Senator Stone. Had the Missouri senator been in command (and carried out his ideas, which is not probable) we would have had an army in Mexico by this time.

President Taft excited a great deal of curiosity and more apprehension when he sent the army to Texas, but since that order he has been moving with caution and deliberation in regard to our southern neighbor.

Overhauling the Army.
If all that the army officers say concerning the army is true then there will be a great overhauling of that organization in the next congress. There should be no minding matters, and every man in the service who has discovered inefficiency and bad management ought to go before a congressional committee and tell what is the trouble and offer suggestions to remedy existing evils. The present congress—the house at least—has a disposition to get all the information it can regarding anything in the public service that is wrong.

They All Do It.
I suppose it is in order for criticisms to be passed upon those Americans who have been struggling to get "presented" at the court of St. James. There may be those who think it does not become freeborn Americans to bow before royalty, but they all do who can, and there is no one who would not be glad to be far enough up in the social scale or have "pull" enough to enjoy the same privilege.

There is just the same struggle to see the president, his wife and his daughter, the latter in a less degree. The president grants more liberty and shakes hands with more persons each year, but when it comes to a social function there is just as much push and jam and clamor at the White House as at Buckingham palace.

They Figured It Out.
Congressman Madden of Illinois was making a speech on the tariff, and Congressman Moore was helping him with his figures. They found that the entire tariff cost each person per capita about $3.75 per year. Madden said that the free list bill, then under consideration, would save each person in the country 5 cents. Moore insisted that the present tariff assessment against some of the Democrats could be paid if they would refrain from going to the theater one evening.

"It would not be fair to assume," said Madden, "that a Democrat would indulge in any such luxurious privilege as going to the theater."

"I will say," said Moore solemnly, "that I saw the other day on one of the broad highways of Washington, flanked by magnificent buildings, a real live Democrat riding in an automobile."

And the laugh that followed was like an oasis in the desert of dry tariff words that were droned out day after day.

A Book of Prophecy.
"It is true," said Congressman Gardner of New Jersey, "that more has gone into the current volume of the Congressional Record than is contained in any volume yet given to the world."

There is nothing so easy to prophesy about as the tariff. There are more predictions, more guesses, on this subject than on any other that comes before congress. There was a deal of prophecy in regard to silver when that was a live issue, but the real prophet is he who knows mighty little about the tariff, and his name is legion. He is only exceeded by the fellow who knows all about it. And one is about as apt to be right as the other.

Scandinavians in Virginia.
Senator Nelson of Minnesota has become very much interested in a colony of Norwegians who have settled in Virginia. They came from Michigan and Minnesota. The Scandinavians do not emigrate to the south in the first instance. Senator Nelson says that these Norwegians have taken the supposedly worn-out farms and made them pay. Already land values have increased all around them. The Norwegians work hard and do not try to depend upon the negroes, who have heretofore done much of the labor on the farms in the south.

ARE THERE ANY RECORDS LEFT FOR LAJOIE?

Larry Lajoie of the Cleveland Indians says he is out for more batting and fielding marks this year. Records already held by Larry are as follows: In 1908 he accepted 988 chances at second base, the greatest number of chances ever handled by a major league second sacker in one season. In 1904 Larry cracked out fifty two-base hits, a high water mark for doubles in the majors. In 1908 Larry made forty-three three-base hits, the greatest number of triples ever made by any major league batter in one season. To top this off, in 1905 Larry had a fielding average of .991, the best ever made by a major leaguer at the second sack.

TENNEY ANOTHER COME-BACK.

Manager of Boston Nationals Playing Great Game at Initial Station.

Fred Tenney is making a good start in his efforts to substantiate his declaration that a baseball player can "come back." When he accepted the management of the Boston club he said he would play first base and prove that his days in baseball were not over. So far he has made good his assertion, as he has been setting a fast pace for his youngsters to follow.

Tenney's work at first base and at the plate has created a surprise, especially in Boston. It was thought there he would not do for active infield work owing to his having been sent to the minors from New York on account of bad legs. But the Boston fans are beginning to think they were wrong. Tenney has given them every reason to think so.

Tenney does not appear to be as fast as when he was regarded as the premier first sacker of the National league. In spite of this he is speedy enough to hold down the base and do as well as any one of the first basemen Boston has had since he quit the club before.

INTERNATIONAL MEET.

Yale and Harvard Teams to Clash With Oxford and Cambridge.

An international varsity meet in which the combined athletic teams of Yale and Harvard will line up against those of Oxford and Cambridge will be held on the Queen's club grounds in July, the American challenge having been definitely accepted by the British universities.

July 6 has been suggested as the date of the meet, but this may be changed for a day a little earlier or later in order that it may not clash with other events of the month.

May Abolish Hammer Throw.
Eastern colleges are advocating the abolition of the hammer throw.

COMING SPORT EVENTS

Cleveland will have ten athletic meets this summer.

Two English amateur and an Australian soccer team will visit this country this fall.

Billy Papke will fight Jim Sullivan, the English middleweight champion in London Derby week.

England's most famous amateur association football team, the Corinthians, will tour this country in September.

Brooklyn has a bicycle riders' association known as the Cross Country Wheelmen, who will hold an endurance run from Brooklyn to Washington on June 23.

REAL STARS COME EVERY FIVE YEARS

So Says Baseball Man in Talking About Diamond Marvels.

POINTS TO HISTORY OF GAME

Says It Is Noticeable Fact That Extraordinary Ball Tossers Pop Up Only in This Space of Time—Johnson and Cobb in Present Decade.

By TOMMY CLARK.
"Did you ever notice that baseball marvels appear only once every five years?" said a prominent National league baseball man recently to the writer. "It may seem facetious, but nevertheless it is true. Just go back over the list and you will see that there have been but two extraordinary players developed during this space of time, and one of them is a pitcher."

"My point is easily taken and to my way of thinking is easily proved. These last five years both men have gone to and been developed in the American league. One of them is Walter Johnson of Washington, that marvelous pitcher and perhaps the greatest of this year and former years. The other player is Ty Cobb of Detroit."

"The half decade from 1900 to 1905 brought out Pitcher Ed Walsh of the White Sox and Second Baseman Johnny Evers of the Cubs. I would like to include Pitchers Mathewson of the Giants, but really believe that Ed Walsh tops him. You see, he hasn't the club behind him that the other two fellows have. It takes a lot of pitching to win a game for the Sox, especially last year and the one before."

"To return to Johnson—he never was heard of until Joe Cantillon signed him up. Straight from the deserts of Idaho he lugged Walter, and Johnson has been a star ever since. He has not got what you call a marvelous team behind him, but his winning average is close to .500, and he has worked in a big lot of games too."

"Cobb, Speaker, Lajoie and the other magnificent batters of the American league find him a hard proposition to face. Pat Dougherty and Billy Sullivan of the Chicago Americans, who are pretty fine sluggers, cannot do anything but whiff when they get up against Johnson."

"Lots of the time he doesn't need many curves. His straight, fast ball is enough to baffle most of the batters. In a series with the White Sox in Washington last summer I don't think he threw fifteen curve balls the whole game. But when he is to be can put on every kind of dress that a ball can stand."

"There is no need telling of the merits of Ty Cobb. He has figured in countless column baseball stories. It's a cold day when some kind of layout can't be woven around Ty Cobb."

During the discussion several took exception to the baseball man's remarks. They claimed that he was unfair; that if he counted in only two players every five years that would make about fourteen players of that caliber since the National league opened.

"That's not the point," continued the baseball man. "I wanted to figure in the real, top notch, amazing stars. They don't come any faster than that. Before Walsh and Evers in that generation from 1895 to 1900 I would include Lajoie of Cleveland and Wagner of Pittsburgh. Others whom I would place in the list are Comiskey, Clarkson, Kelly, Jennings, Anson and Radbourne."

"I don't mean this as any knock against the other players. It's the same as classifying the great actors or the great presidents. I don't think Sir Henry Irving would have justice done him if you compared another tragic actor of good ability with him. Sir Henry was a star of the first magnitude. Just as Walter Johnson and Cobb are in their profession."

The baseball man has failed to mention Johnny McGraw and Willie Keeler. The former was one of the greatest third basemen that ever lived, while Keeler was a great outfielder, a wonderful batter and one of the speediest base runners baseball ever produced. As for Christy Mathewson, his equal as a pitcher will probably never be found. For twelve seasons he has been doing mound duty, and today he is still without a superior. Johnson is a marvel, and so is Walsh, but Matty outclasses them. Johnson may or may not surpass Mathewson in years to come, but he will have to go some to do it. It is mainly through Matty's great work in the box that the Giants have been so well up in the race for years."

Then how about Eddie Collins, the Athletics' second baseman? He is a wonderful batter, base runner and one of the brainiest young men that ever appeared on the diamond. And there is still another—Russell Ford of the New York Americans. Today he is the peer of all spitball twirlers, and in another season he will stand the heavy hitters of his league on their heads.

When going over the list of great ball players one cannot leave out Fred Clarke. Show us one left fielder that has anything on the Pirates' manager in any way. How about Hal Chase? A more spectacular first baseman never appeared in baseball. There is no way of figuring out how often wonderful ball players may pop up. There may be one this season. Who knows?

WELL POSTED BASEBALL FANS.

It happened at a recent ball game in Philadelphia between the Athletics and Washingtons. Street, the Washington catcher, was at bat. One of the cultured fans pointed to him and then turned to his companion.

"Do you see that man?" he asked.

"I do," said his friend.

"Well, that is Street. You know, he's the man who caught the ball in Washington that was thrown from Bunker Hill monument."

LOBERT'S EARLY TROUBLES.

Dreyfuss Paid His Fares After Being Canned by Western Team.

Hans Lobert, the Philadelphia Nationals' third baseman, delights in telling the boys about his first professional experience. Hans was canned from Sioux City after he had been in the squad about ten days, and the German did not have the change to take him to his home in Pittsburgh.

He managed to scrape together enough to take him to St. Louis. Hans says when he landed in the Mound City he had 15 cents and had not eaten for two days.

He proceeded to a three cent hash house and ate 10 cents' worth, and then, to show that he was a sport, he spent the other nickel to get his shoes shined.

Lobert met Barney Dreyfuss that very day, as the Pirates were playing the Cardinals. Dreyfuss had heard of Lobert and, knowing that he was a Pittsburgh boy, gave him enough money to take him home.

Upon arriving home he got a letter from Mike Finn, Little Rock's manager, offering him more money than he could have got at Sioux City had he made good.

This was back in 1903. What Lobert did after that time is a matter of history. He entered the big league as a member of the Reds the next summer.

FLANAGAN COMING BACK.

Celebrated Hammer Thrower Will Return to America Next Fall.

John Flanagan, the world's champion hammer thrower, who has been abroad for nearly a year, will return to America in the fall and is expected to set a new world's record in the Metropolitan championships in New York in September. In a letter to a friend Flanagan says that he is heavier than ever and in recent trials has beaten his own mark by several feet.

He will remain on the other side until after the coronation of King George, competing in the English championships during coronation week. The Irish championships, the international meet in London and the dual meet between Ireland and Scotland. When the giant weight thrower left New York last year he declared that he would never return. He has evidently reconsidered this decision. Besides being the world's record holder in throwing the sixteen pound hammer, he ranks with the best men in the country in throwing the fifty-six pound weight for height and distance. He can also throw the discus and javelin a good distance.

Manager Chance Boosts Zimmerman.

"Before midsummer Heinie Zimmerman will be the best third baseman in the National league," is the prediction of Frank Chance. "He has all the requisites of the position. Zim is a powerful man, quick on his feet and has big hands to knock down hits. As soon as I teach him not to hit at balls instead of strikes he will bat .275."

Corri England's Best Referee.

Eugene Corri, English boxing referee, is a member of the London Stock Exchange. He loves the sport so well he pays his own expenses to act as third man in the ring.

Jennings Encourages Other Teams.
Hughie Jennings says that unless the American league teams play better ball than they are doing the Tigers will have to forfeit a few games to keep up the interest.

Argentine Golf Champion Coming.
Peter Gannon, the young Argentinian who holds the amateur golf championships of France, Italy and Austria, will tour Canada this summer.

BASEBALL CHATTER

First Baseman Del Gainer cost Detroit $500. President Navin says he is a $10,000 ball player.

Arnold Hauser, the St. Louis Nationals' star shortstop, used to be a Chicago newsboy. He sold papers to Charley Comiskey, the Old Roman.

"Brains win ball games," states Silk O'Loughlin, the picturesque American league umpire. Silk, so do hits and their half brothers, runs.

His crouching throw and all around suppleness make Archer of the Cubs in many respects one of the greatest catchers who ever wore a mask.

"Kid" Elbertfeld has been playing ball for seventeen years. He is one nifty player who doesn't break ground when a pair of steely spikes threaten to cut him down.

At no time in his career has "Silent" John Titus of the Phillies played the ball he has so far this season. He is no longer the listless player he used to be. Lack of ginger was his weak point.

CONGRESSMAN STED-

something to be shunned by a people living under a Republican form of Government, who wish to enjoy its privileges and blessings. * * * * *

It has been urged against the admission of Arizona, not that its population is less than it should be, not that its people are not loyal and true, not that in any requirement necessary for admission there is any deficiency whatsoever, except and solely that its Constitution as adopted violates Section 4, Article 4, of the Constitution of the United States, in that it provides for the Initiative, Referendum and Recall. This objection can be sustained by neither reason nor authority.

Section 4, Article 4, of the National Constitution provides that:
"That the United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a Republican form of Government."

What constitutes a Republican form of Government? It is not defined in the National Constitution, but elsewhere can be found its definition, given by high authority in terms so plain and simple that no one can misunderstand.

The Supreme Court of the United States in an opinion which will be found in 2 Dallas—Pages 419, has defined it to be, "One constructed on the principle that the supreme power resides in the body of the people."

The Supreme Court of Oregon says,
"A Republican form of Government is administered by Representatives chosen or appointed by the people or by their authority."

In another opinion rendered by the same court will be found these words:

"Under a Republican form of Government those in office are always responsible to the people, and the closer the power to enact laws and control officials lies with the people, the more certain is it Republican in form and in principle."

With these definitions as a guide, a close and impartial scrutiny of the Constitution of Arizona will disclose the fact that none of its provisions are in conflict with Section 4, Article 4, of the National Constitution, or of its other provisions, and I further maintain that the system of Government in which is embodied the Initiative and the Referendum is not only Republican in form, but that its very life is vitalized and the principle for which it stands, "That all political power is vested in and derived from the people", is made more secure and enduring. The features in the Constitution of Arizona, which to some are objectionable, are embodied in Article 4 and 8. By permission they will be printed with my remarks.

When the citizens of Arizona adopted a Constitution, embracing within its provisions the Initiative and Referendum, they only reserved to themselves powers which have existed and belonged to the people since this Republic was formed.
They discovered no new principle. They simply reserved powers in a written instrument which had been asserted and recognized from colonial days. Many of the States of the Union have recognized and adopted the same system, represented by the Initiative and Referendum as embodied in the Constitution of Arizona, and their representatives have been admitted to the halls of Congress without dispute. What penalties shall these splendid commonwealths pay for their hardihood in adopting systems of government which recognize the sovereignty of the people rather than the sovereignty of money. Who will say that a system is wrong which makes a representative responsive to the will of the people, which forces him to pass laws demanded by their wants and best interests, and, if he refuses to do so, gives an opportunity to redress the wrongs of omission and commission.
Are the principles of Government as written in the Constitution of the United States, in the Declaration of Independence, in the Bill of Rights of many of the sovereign States to be trampled under foot and forgotten and the dicta of corporate power substituted therefor?

Arizona in adopting a Constitution with the Initiative and Referendum made a plutocracy impossible within its borders, so long as its people remain honest and incorruptible. When any people become venal and corrupt they will tread the paths of the cities and republics of other days, now remembered only for their follies, their vices and their crimes.

The reassertion of Arizona and other States in their written Constitutions of the powers which too long had been allowed to remain dominant was a revolt against conditions existing in different portions of our Republic. They had seen elections bought and legislatures debauched with money extorted from the toil of a struggling people, with the hideous spectre of corruption and bribery walking unabashed throughout the land. The brave and manly people of that great region of our country, known as the North West, sounded the bugle blast of freedom against the exactions and cruel tyranny of money. Day by day the clarion music of the call has resounded throughout the land clearer and more distinctly than before, carrying with it the glad tidings of a mighty and crowning triumph, soon to be won and with that triumph, the redemption of a people from a burden of grievous wrongs. The issue was made whether this country shall be governed in accordance with the will of its people, untrammeled by the power of money, or whether it should be surrendered to the Cossacks of greed, self-styled kings of finance, who control the trusts, and the fight will never be ended until the right of the people to govern is recognized from ocean to ocean.

In the contest the flag of the Democratic party will be seen where it has ever been in every struggle for the su-premaccy of the rights of the people—far to the front—written upon it glittering folds in letters of everlasting light—Our Common Country—one and indivisible—now and forever—equal rights for all—special privileges for none.

The Recall.

The Recall of Judges is in my opinion correctly stated to be the most objectionable feature in the Constitution of Arizona. I was born and reared in a State where profound respect for the Judges is one of the earliest lessons taught our youth, and I have always thought it was well that it was so.

North Carolina, my home, has furnished many illustrious names which have illuminated the Judicial history of our land. Chief Justice Ruffin was by common consent one of the greatest equity lawyers ever sat upon the bench in this or any other country. He ranked with Story, and his decisions have been read with approval in Westminster Hall.

Our present Chief Justice, Walter Clark, is one of the greatest common law judges in this era of distinguished lawyers, and is so recognized. It may be that my environments influence my judgment. However that may be, I cannot but conclude that a Recall of Judges would tend to degrade the Judiciary and affect their independence injuriouly. Others think differently—and I am told, Judges.

It is sufficient to say that the proper determination of the question at issue—whether Arizona shall be admitted to the Union depends, not upon the correctness of their opinion or mine—Arizona has the legal and moral right to settle this question for herself. The Recall in Article 8, of their Constitution, violates no provision of the National Constitution in any respect, nor does it conflict with any requirement of the Enabling Act. If it be a mistake, it is one she had the right to make. This is her mistake, and not ours. It can have no effect upon her right to be admitted as a State. * * * * *

What constitutes the greatness of this Republic? Not alone its vast and un-parallel wealth. Not its mines of gold and silver, of iron and copper. Not its ships which float upon every sea, and whose white sails are fanned by the breezes of every ocean. Not the places of the rich and powerful, which adorn and beautify our great cities. Not its boundless Western plains where is garnered food for the world's consumption.
Not its Southern fields white with cotton, which finds its way to China, to Japan, to Africa to clothe their people.
Not its mighty rivers nor its great lakes. Not its favored climate which delights the traveler from other lands and invites him to health and repose.
Not its mountains in their solemnity and grandeur. Great and wonderful are its natural and material resources, its chiefest glory will not be discovered in them. It will be found in the Constitution of our common country, and its legal institutions, which maintain and enforce justice for all with no discrimination and which gives an equal chance to each in the battle of life. This is the supreme essence of its greatness, the most radiant jewel in its crown of glory. No citizen of this country, who loves its prosperity and renown and who values the blessings, which as of right belong to all of its people alike can fail to discern that the institutions which protect him are threatened by the same dangers which destroyed the republics of ancient days and that the very existence of a Constitutional form of Government as devised by our fathers is in jeopardy. The vast accumulation of wealth by a few at the expense of the many, the brutal tyranny of money, the insatiable greed of corporate power, the inordinate desire of gain to be used for personal luxury, all tending to debauchery and crime are seen by all men and foreshadow, unless checked, the commencement of the decline of the republic whilst yet in its infancy and before its work shall have been finished.
No race of great men can be bred in the atmosphere of commercial fraud and corporate theft when once the body politic is fully trained and polluted by the noxious miasma in which they flourish.
Against this spectre of evil I place the manifest destiny of our great Republic and the fortitude and virtue of its people in the hour of peril and disaster.
Long may it survive and may its greatness in ages to come be recognized in the blessings it has afforded to all its people, who have the wish and desire to enjoy them, by its justice in dealing

IN THE LABOR WORLD

The Legislature of California has passed a stringent eight-hour work-day for women. The provisions of the new statute cover occupations, save the exception that the law shall not affect the harvesting, curing, canning or drying of vegetables.

The Dutch Federation of Trade and Labor Unions reports an improvement, the affiliated unions now numbering 28, with a total membership of 42,679, as against 27 unions with 39,640 members in 1909. The trade union movement in Holland is very much split up.

Further agreements between the Bankers' Unions and employers will be made to expire on May 1, and all new contracts will be made on that basis until every local in the United States and Canada has its agreements begin the end on the date named.

The international marine strike, which will affect the world's ports, will, it is said, take place during the third week in May. A strike fund of $300,000 for the British end has been raised. Seamen of all countries will join the strike, including Chinese, who have a separate union at Hong Kong.

In Switzerland the hours of men are restricted to 64 weekly, in Austria to 66, in Russia to 67 1-2, by day and 60 by night, and in France to 72, though to 60 where they work in the same building with women and young persons. Shorter hours, for both men and women, apply to special industries in some countries.

At a special meeting of the Federated Liquor Trades Employees' Union in Australia, it was decided to call a meeting of workers employed in the aerated water trade to form a union to work in conjunction with the Liquor Trade Employees in drawing up a log of wages for submission to the employers.

The carpet weavers' union, of Toronto, Can., claims that its members have been forced to quit work, because of a request of employers that before they can continue work each individual must sign an agreement that he will not join or contribute to any labor union or organization.

The demise of the International Union of Flour and Cereal Mill Employes has been announced. The international headquarters were located in Minneapolis, Minn., and at one time, just previous to the disastrous strike of ten years ago, there were fully 1,800 members in the three locals in Minneapolis alone.

Twenty-three hundred new members have been taken into the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners recently in Oskosh, Wis. Organization effect has been directed to the employes of the mills, in which more than 6,000 are employed in the Oskosh district and of whom 3,900 are eligible to membership. The Oskosh local is now the largest in the world.

A deputation of civil servants from every part of the Dominion of Canada waited on the Minister of Finance and asked for the abolition of the existing retiring fund and the introduction of a system of superannuation similar to that adopted by the Canadian banks and insurance companies. The Finance Minister promised favorable consideration.

Recently there was inaugurated in Grand Rapids, Mich., a strike which will directly affect probably 20,000 workers, although about 10,000 workers were at first involved. Sixty furniture factories were forced to close because of the inability to get together on questions involving abolition of the piece system and 10 per cent. increase in wages.

The annual convention of the Bankers' International will be held in Kansas City, Mo., this year, and the executive board will present to the convention a plan for the establishment of co-operative bakeries in all cities where the union has not been able to gain a foothold. The plan provides for the investment of international funds in these bake shops and they will be turned into trade schools for the benefit of members.

A steady growth in numerical strength of labor members in Congress has been shown. In 1906 six trades unionists were elected. The fall of 1907 saw the lead increased by the addition of four more, making ten in all. The congressional election of 1910 still further increased the Federation's numerical strength by 50 per cent., there being fifteen members of the present Congress actively affiliated with the trades unions.

The International Association of Manufacturers, in the good it has wrought and the happiness it has brought to all humanity.

chinitis may, it is said, hold before long a referendum vote on the question of whether any member of the National Civic Federation may be a member of the machinists organization. It will be necessary to have a referendum vote indorsed by forty locals, not more than five of which may be of any one State.
International President O'Connell is identified with the Civic Federation.

Toronto, Can., freight handlers are again talking about demanding an increase of wages. Last year they received an increase of one cent an hour.
They were working up to that time for 15 to 16 cents an hour, and at the present time their wages are 16 to 17 cents an hour. If they succeed in getting their men together they will ask for twenty cents an hour. There are about 1,000 freight handlers, in the Toronto terminals.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature proposing an amendment to the State Constitution that provides that the Legislature shall have power to make laws requiring employers to make just and reasonable compensation to workmen for injuries received by the employes in the course of their employment, whether or not there was any negligence on the part of the employer. The bill also authorizes compensation to next of kin of any deceased workman whose death shall be caused in the course of his employment, whether or not the employer was negligent.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroad men:
"As conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

It is a pity truth is stranger than fiction.

"One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, Whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes.

TWINS CAPTURED FIRST GAME IN TENTH INNING

Walters Pitched Superb Ball, But in Ninth Poor Support in Outfield Gave Twins Enough Runs to Tie The Score.

Tony Walters came out of yesterday's game with flying colors, though some of his teammates did not; and although Winston-Salem took the contest by a score of 4 to 3, the Twins did not deserve the victory that was forced upon them unexpectedly by a few of the Patriots.

At the end of the eighth inning the locals had three runs to their credit, while the Twins had not gotten a man past second base and had obtained only two hits off Walters' delivery. But in the ninth a combination of errors and loose playing gave the Twins enough runs to tie the score and victory in the tenth was easy.

Nearly a thousand lovers of the national game were out to see the opening contest of the series and things started off at a lively clip with Walters in the box for the locals and Swindell on the knoll for the locals.

In the third inning Clancy fumbled Rickard's grounder. Doyle singled and advanced Rickard to third. Doyle stole second. Fuller then lined out a lovely single and Rickard and Doyle scored.

In the fifth Doyle singled again and pilfered second. Galvin threw to second to catch Doyle, who went on to third on the error. He scored the third run of the game when Bentley came in with a single over Clancy's head.

When the eighth inning was over not a Twin had passed second base and only two hits had been made by Clancy's men.

But in the ninth trouble came. Manager Clancy sent Boyle in to bat for Mullen. Boyle landed on the sphere for a high ball over in Clapp's territory, but the Patriots left-fielder was apparently laboring under the delusion that he was out there to observe and not to arrest the descent of the ball. He managed to get over in time to see the ball go by but by the time he fielded it Boyle was on third. Clemens then hit an easy infield grounder and was safe on Fuller's error. O'Halloran sent a fly right in Bentley's hands, but the latter was apparently thinking more about throwing the ball than catching it and he muffed. Boyle scored. The side should have then been retired. Spencer fanned. Yates sent the sphere down in Bentley's territory, and after so long a time "Togo" found the ball and threw it in, but by this time Clemens and O'Halloran had crossed the plate and were on the bench; and Yates, tired of running, drew up at third. Clancy grounded out to Carroll.

In the tenth Walters walked Hinkle, and the runner took second on a passed ball. Swindell and Clemens singled and the Twin's catcher scored the winning run. The Patriots went out in one-two-three order.

It was a sore and disappointed crowd that returned to the city after witnessing the superb pitching of Walters and the farcical finish which the team gave the game.

The afternoon was featured by the hitting of Doyle, who made four singles in five times at the bat and added to this three steals to second. Fuller's timely hit scored two runs. Boyle and Yates were stars for the visitors at the bat. Rickard, the Patriot's fast center fielder, caught Shumaker's long drive near the fence and won a round of applause.

Carroll made his initial appearance among the Patriots. He played in Corwin's place at short. He gives promise of making good, but was suffering from stage fright yesterday.

The Patriots got thirteen hits off Swindell and deserved to win, but the score shows they didn't:

DIAMOND DUST

Let's forget it.

Time to quit losing games in the ninth inning.

Same teams at Cone park this afternoon at 4:30.

Had those two flies in the ninth gone Rickard's way the report of the game would have read differently.

Rickard's manner of covering center reminds one of the days of Anthony and Sisson.

Fuller may not hit as often as some of them in the league, but there are few of them who hit more often when one is needed.

Yesterday's game will help determine who will get the pink slips between now and Saturday night.

Oh, how we wish for Corwin back at short-stop.

Morrissey will probably be on the mound for the locals today.

"Chick" Doak showed the worth of that level head of his when he nailed the runner at third instead of throwing to first.

That "Rabbit" Doyle is a wonder. Few men can get four hits out of five times at bat and be successful three times in four attempts to pilfer second.

Pitcher Hauser, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Leo's a few days ago, is getting along nicely.

Wishes are contrary things. We only want ice in hot weather.

An affinity is a fresh disappointment in disguise.

HANK O'DAY DEFENDS THE CORK CENTER BALL.

Philadelphia, May 18.—Hank O'Day, veteran National League umpire, yesterday declared that the heavy hitting in the big leagues is not due to the new cork center ball, but is directly due to the poor work of the pitchers. When shown the dispatch from Chicago saying the new ball would be modified to make it deader, he said:

"What do they want? Before the cry was against pitchers' battles; now there is too much hitting. The fault lies entirely with the pitchers. I do not remember in my years of experience a period when the pitchers were so much off as they are this year.

"The ball has nothing at all to do with it. The ball is all right."

SPINNERS TAKE FIRST GAME FROM THE MUSICIANS

Greenville, S. C., May 18.—Greenville won from the Spartans this afternoon by the superiority of the local pitching, the hitting ability of the team and sensational fielding at times. The final score was 7 to 2 for the Spinners. A particularly sensational running catch was that made by Doak, centerfielder for Greenville. Wagon in the first for Spartanburg walked and stole third and finally home.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Greenville .. 130 021 00x-7 11 2
Spartanburg .. 100 100 000-2 9 3
Batteries—Cashion and Kite; Ferrell, Lyons and Westlake and Moore, Umpire, Nugent.

BIDS FOR MASONIC AND EASTERN STAR HOME ARE OPENED

The building committee of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, composed of Grand Master R. N. Hackett, L. M. Clymer and F. N. Winchester, met in Charlotte yesterday and opened the bids for the erection of the home. There were 12 bids for the general contract, ranging from $16,971 to $23,900. Ange & Co., of Winston-Salem, were the lowest bidders. There were three bidders for the heating and plumbing. Hunt Bros. being the lowest bidders. Their bid was $1,620 for heating and $1,235 for the plumbing. The contracts have not yet been awarded, but will be at an early date.

Hot in New York.

UMPIRE O'BRIEN GAVE CHARLOTTE GAME TO LOCALS

Charlotte, May 18.—Though he allowed but one hit in the nine innings Scanlon lost his opening game for the Anderson team by the score of 3 to 2. Hankie pitched for Charlotte and allowed six hits but kept them scattered. Umpire O'Brien was rotten in his decisions and this accounted in a great measure for the game coming into the hands of the locals.

Score: R. H. E.
Charlotte .. 010 002 00x-3 1 1
Anderson .. 100 001 000-2 6 1
Batteries: For Charlotte, Hankie and Malcolson; for Anderson, Scanlon and Killocke.
